

Holds your gadgets when you can't.

Fits all gadgets

Issue: Consumer desire for customization of portable electronic devices continues to grow. As a result, manufacturers of electronic mobile devices like Apple and Samsung continue to react to various consumer needs creating a massive array of smartphones, tablets and phablets. These devices have various physical dimensions (screen size, width, height, depth) and are used in various settings (cars, indoor, outdoor). The variety makes the category of gadget accessories (mounts, stands, cases and etc.) extremely complex to shop and to manage.

Keizus Solution: Quadropod+Clamp provides simplicity and engagement in the category of gadget accessories. Keizus is a multi-purpose gadget holder that can be used for comfortable screen positioning, stable picture taking, video shooting, time-lapse photography and much more. Keizus is universal and can accommodate various electronic devices like smartphones, tablets, phablets, cameras, camcorders or tripods in various settings like indoor, outdoor or in the car.

Quadropod+Clamp is made to be fun and engaging — its design is inspired by human body architecture that most people can relate to. The Quadropod links are detachable and reconfigurable. The Clamp can be unscrewed from the Quadropod's body to serve as a tripod adapter.
