

MagMount™ Optical Device Mounting System by Trek-Tech™

MagMount with Safety Clip docked and light-force Mag Adapter in place. (Shown mounted on a TrekPod)

MAGMOUNT™ is an industry-first magnetic quick-release camera and optical device mounting system originally developed for use on the TREKPOD™, but also available as a separate accessory. It provides for the instant attachment of almost any camera, spotting scope, or other device that is mounted via the industry standard 1/4-20 threaded mounting system in use on most tripods, monopods and window mount systems available today.

The MagMount system, with its light- and heavy-force Mag Adaptors, provides for the instant exchange of devices on your tripod, monopod, TrekPod or window mount. You can interchange cameras, spotting scopes, binoculars and range finders in seconds, and be ready to travel again in a few seconds more.

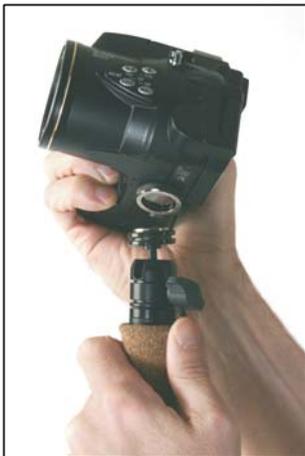

For heavier devices, or for facilitating moving or carrying your support system with a device attached, you can secure a device to MagMount with the integrated Safety Clip, which docks in the base of the MagMount when not in use.

MagMount provides unprecedented levels of flexibility and functionality for outdoor photographers, birders, and hunters. Many additional uses have also been suggested, such as portable lighting, microphone mounting, etc.

Once you've used a MagMount in conjunction with any of your optics stabilization tools, you'll wonder why no one thought of this concept before!
